Aimee Whatley Named 2025 Recipient of the Rachel Ehrlich Scholarship Fund

Lexington, KY — May 7, 2025 — The American Hanoverian Society Foundation is proud to announce Aimee Whatley of La Salle, Colorado, as the 2025 recipient of the Rachel Ehrlich Scholarship Fund. Aimee has been awarded the full $3,000 scholarship to support her participation in an applied breeding and ultrasound training program this May in Texas.

This intensive, hands-on training will provide Aimee with essential knowledge in reproductive management that will allow her to more effectively oversee the care of her mares. By gaining these skills, she will be able to reduce the cost and logistical strain of outsourcing services and decrease the stress on her mares caused by frequent transport to external breeding facilities. Her enhanced capabilities will allow her to implement best practices, improve her breeding strategies, and produce sport horses of the highest quality.

The Rachel Ehrlich Scholarship Fund was established in honor of Rachel Ehrlich's unwavering dedication to responsible sport horse breeding and her commitment to supporting the next generation of breeders and trainers. With founding support from Drs. Barbara Davis and J. Carl Barrett, and through the generosity of Rachel's many friends and colleagues, the fund provides financial assistance to individuals pursuing advanced education and hands-on learning opportunities that elevate their breeding or training programs.

"We're proud to support Aimee's continued education and are confident this experience will have a lasting impact on her program," said Nat Masin, Chair of the AHSF Scholarship Committee. "Her initiative and drive reflect the very spirit of this scholarship, and we look forward to seeing how she applies her training in the seasons ahead."

Please join us in congratulating Aimee on this well-deserved award!
